Once a dog has been diagnosed as cushingoid, the high dose dexamethasone suppression test can be used to differentiate between forms of cushing’s. As the dance ends they stare into each other’s eyes in a haze of unresolved sexual tension.